Access to online platforms for home working

Dear parents/carers,

Over the next few weeks of home learning, some year groups will be added some work from a platform we use in school called Espresso. The children can currently access this for free at home and it is a fantastic resource full of videos and activities for all areas of learning, therefore we hope you will find this a useful aid.

For you to access the site at home, please copy the link below into your browser. Once on the webpage, in the top right hand corner there will be a login button. Click on it and then click the one that says Espresso. You can then enter the username and password below, which will give pupils access to the site.

Unfortunately, the only downfall with this site is that no links can just be clicked on to access it, you always have to copy and paste the link given to get onto it. There will be reminders on planning for you to do this!

Further to this, pupils can also access Linguascope from home, which is a language learning platform using interactive games to learn new languages (some of you may have already been accessing this but you will need to enter the new details as our subscription has been renewed). If you would like to have a go, click the link below and use the following log in details:-

Thank you for your great efforts with home schooling, stay safe.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs Sweet
(Assistant head of school)
